HAWK WATCH RESOURCES

IDENTIFICATION

HAWKS IN FLIGHT Second Edition by Pete Dunne, David Sibley and Clay Sutton.

HAWK MIGRATION ASSN - https://www.hawkmigration.org/raptor-identification-resources/. Their Eastern Hawk ID Program by Bob Pettit is a good starter course.

PETERSON FIELD GUIDES – HAWKS by Clark and Wheeler.

ALL ABOUT BIRDS – allaboutbirds.org.

YOUTUBE – search for "raptor identification" videos.

DATA and COUNT PROCEDURES

Hawkcount.org is a national on-line database for hawk count data - http://hawkcount.org

FRANKLIN MOUNTAIN HAWK WATCH PROTOCOL is at http://hawkcount.org. Go to Franklin Mountain, then Site Profile, then General.

FAVORITE WEATHER SOURCES

MYRADAR App - 10 day forecasts for temp, precipitation, wind and cloud cover.

NOAA - home page - http://www.noaa.gov/ - excellent graphical forecasts.

Windy – http://www.windy.com/

HAWK MIGRATION SITES

Hawk Migration Association (includes access to their listserve Birdhawk) - https://www.hawkmigration.org/

FRANKLIN MOUNTAIN and DOAS INFORMATION

The Delaware-Otsego Audubon Society page is www.doas.us

The Franklin Mountain web page is found at www.doas.us under the research tab. Sign up for Migration Alerts by email on that page.

To receive Franklin Mountain daily totals by email send a request to andymason@earthling.net

To receive notices of upcoming DOAS events – www.doas.us then to the News page where you can sign up for E-news.

HAWK WATCH IMPROVEMENTS – We hope to keep Franklin Mountain operating for many years. We have been restoring the view and improving the site. If you would like to support these continuing efforts, consider a donation to DOAS, PO Box 544, Oneonta, NY 13820. Specify it should be used for the Franklin Mountain Hawk Watch